Next Generation Social Sciences in Africa: Critical Perspectives in Peace, Security, and Development Issues. The program, currently in its second year, focuses on the important role of African researchers working on peace, security, and development issues. 