Agriculture: A Practical Course For Botswana

Ian Elliott

The practical dimension in Botswana classrooms. The Botswana College of Agriculture has developed and implemented training programs to provide practical skills for farmers and farm managers. The curriculum includes topics such as meat inspection, which is essential for the meat industry in Botswana. The courses are designed to bridge the skills gap between academic training and practical skills needed in the agricultural sector.

The Botswana College of Agriculture (BAC) was established in 1967 to provide quality in-service and continuing education training in agriculture and rural development. It extends BCA's mandate through quality in-service and continuing education training in agriculture and rural development. The CICE designs, develops and delivers training programs that are tailored to the needs of farmers and agricultural workers. The courses are designed to provide practical skills in the growing of crops and the rearing of animals.
