China's growing role as infrastructure financier for Sub-Saharan Africa Oct 20, 2008. Building bridges: China's growing role as infrastructure financier for Sub-Saharan Africa (English). Abstract. China and Africa have a long history of economic and cultural ties, which have greatly intensified in recent years. Both bilateral and multilateral cooperation has been instrumental in promoting economic growth and development in Sub-Saharan Africa. Recent years have seen an increase in China's investment in Africa, and China's growing role as infrastructure financier for Sub-Saharan Africa has been a key factor in this trend. This paper discusses the growing role of China as an infrastructure financier in Sub-Saharan Africa and evaluates the impact of China's investments on the region. It also examines the challenges and opportunities that China's growing role as infrastructure financier presents to the continent.

Building Bridges: China's Growing Role As Infrastructure Financier For Sub-Saharan Africa

Vivien Foster