The French régime did not give rise to any Canadian literature in the proper sense of the word. The books which at that period were written about Canada were too different and too familiar. The Challenge of French-Canadian. French Studies 207. FRENCH CANADIAN LITERATURE. By Christopher. Rolfe, University Fellow, University of Leicester. (This survey covers the years 2004 and 2005). 1. General. History of Literature in Canada: English-Canadian and French-Canadian. 207. FRENCH CANADIAN LITERATURE. By Christopher. Rolfe, Senior Lecturer in French, University of Leicester. 1. General. So-called 'écriture migrante' is of History of French Canadian Literature. History of Quebec Literature. 5. Histories of Literature Including both English-Canadian and French-Canadian Literature. 6. General or Comparative Studies Including both English-Canadian and French-Canadian Literature. The Golden Dog follows the lives of two French Canadian couples just the shifting of Canadian literature from objective historical accounts to Canadian literature - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia Studies in Quebec or French-Canadian Literature. Units: 1.5, Hours: 3-0. Study of major texts: genres, periods, gender studies, theoretical approaches, cultural FRENCH CANADIAN LITERATURE. From modest colonial beginnings, literature in Canada has arrived at the center stage of world literature. Works by English-Canadian writers -- both established ?The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature - Google Books Result Canadian literature Britannica.com May 26, 2015. Pasha Malla on Raymond Bock's "Atavismes: Histoires" and why French-Canadian literature has had trouble catching on in English translation. The Great Write North: 25 Classic Canadian Novels Qwiklit Discover librarian-selected research resources on French-Canadian Literature from the Questia online library, including full-text online books, academic journals. Canadian literature, French - Infoplease A Celebration of Women Writers: Canadian Poets. women's history, native studies, the history of French Canada, and 19th Century French Canadian literature.