Medieval Lives: Eight Charismatic Men And Women Of The Middle Ages

Norman F Cantor

Medieval Lives: Eight Charismatic Men and Women of the Middle Ages. A unique perspective on history in which eight extraordinary medieval men and women of the Middle Ages are profiled. Includes detailed descriptions of the Middle Ages, the role of women, and the impact of charismatic men and women on society.

Norman Cantor – Wikipedia

Norman F. Cantor is a professor of history, sociology, and comparative literature at New York University. He has written extensively on medieval history and culture, and his work has appeared in numerous academic journals and books. His most well-known work is Medieval Lives: Eight Charismatic Men and Women of the Middle Ages, which explores the lives of eight extraordinary men and women from the Middle Ages. Cantor has also written on the role of women in medieval society and the importance of charismatic figures in shaping history.

Medieval Lives: Eight Charismatic Men and Women of the Middle Ages. By Norman F. Cantor. Harper & Row, 1979. Pp. xix, 231. $25. Medieval Lives: Eight Charismatic Men and Women of the Middle Ages is a fascinating look at life in the Middle Ages that focuses on eight extraordinary medieval men and women through realistically invented biographies. The book explores the lives of eight charismatic men and women who are at once representative figures of their time. These figures include Eleanor of Aquitaine, Beatrice de Bingen, Hildegard of Bingen, Alcuin of York, and many others. Cantor's work is informative and engaging, and it provides a unique perspective on the Middle Ages.

The book's format includes biographies of each individual, descriptions of their accomplishments, and analyses of their impact on society. Cantor's writing is clear and accessible, and he manages to make complex historical concepts understandable to readers of all ages. The book is highly recommended for anyone interested in medieval history, as well as for those who enjoy engaging and informative biographies.