Second International Conference on Application of Concurrency to System Design; European Commission; IEEE Circuits and Systems Society; IEEE Computer Society

There is increased interest in trying to design systems in an asynchronous manner. The second approach to PN models is considered in the context of designing systems in an asynchronous manner.
