Sloss Furnaces

Karen R Utz; Sloss Furnaces Foundation

The Sloss Furnaces are an industrial site in Birmingham, Alabama, that operated as a pig-iron-producing blast furnace from 1882 to 1971. It is now a designated National Historic Landmark. The site has a reputation for being haunted, with reports of unexplained activity and paranormal experiences. Visitors can explore the site and attend events and ghost hunts organized by the Sloss Furnaces Foundation.