Was the Alaska Purchase a Good Deal? - University of Iowa. Secretary of State William H. Seward signs a treaty with Russia for the purchase of Alaska for $7 million. Despite the bargain price of roughly two cents an acre, the Alaska Purchase was referred to as “Seward’s Folly” in the 1860's.

Cultural Studies Despite the fact that Alaska would become one of the best bargains in U.S. history, the purchase of Alaska was often assumed that the entire purchase of Alaska from Russia in 1867 is considered to be one of the largest land deals in history. Fearing that it could not defend its territory in North America, Russia signed the Treaty of 1867 with the United States.

Alaska Purchase - Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia. The Alaska Purchase, also known as the Seward’s Folly, was the acquisition of Alaska from the Russian Empire in 1867 by a treaty ratified by the United States Congress. The Alaska Purchase was made in hopes of starting a bidding war, both the British and the Americans were approached. However, the British expressed little interest in buying Alaska. Our Documents - Check for the Purchase of Alaska (1868). With this check, the United States purchased Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million. The Treaty with Russia was negotiated and signed by Secretary of State William Seward and Russian Minister to the United States Edouard de Stoeckl.

The role of Seward’s Folly, the Purchase of Alaska in the history of the United States of America. CSMH History Class / 1867 - Alaska purchased Treaty with Russia (Alaska Purchase). 1909-14. American Historical Documents. 1000-1904. The Harvard Classics. Seward’s Folly, the Purchase of Alaska - United States American. Features 100 milestone documents of American history from the National Archive. With this check, the United States purchased Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million. The Alaska Purchase (In American History) [David K. Fremon] on Amazon.com. "FREE" shipping on qualifying offers. Traces the history of Alaska through the Purchase of Alaska, 1867 - Office of the Historian Purchase of Alaska - America's Library. Late on the night of March 29, 1867, Secretary of State William Seward met a Russian statesman to conclude an agreement they had been discussing— that the U.S. Why did Russia sell Alaska to the USA? - Quora. Perhaps in hopes of starting a bidding war, both the British and the Americans were approached. However, the British expressed little interest in buying Alaska.

Our Documents - Check for the Purchase of Alaska (1868). The US $7.2 million check used to pay for Alaska ($121 million in 2015 dollars). The Alaska Purchase is also known as Seward’s Folly or the Seward’s Stronghold to US.

Historians agree that the United States was looking for a way to expand its territory and secure access to the Pacific Ocean. Fearing that it could not defend its territory in North America, Russia signed the Treaty of 1867 with the United States.

The role of Seward’s Folly, the Purchase of Alaska in the history of the United States of America. CSMH History Class / 1867 - Alaska purchased Treaty with Russia (Alaska Purchase). 1909-14. American Historical Documents. 1000-1904. The Harvard Classics. Seward’s Folly, the Purchase of Alaska - United States American. Features 100 milestone documents of American history from the National Archive. With this check, the United States purchased Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million. The Alaska Purchase (In American History) [David K. Fremon] on Amazon.com. "FREE" shipping on qualifying offers. Traces the history of Alaska through the Purchase of Alaska, 1867 - Office of the Historian Purchase of Alaska - America's Library. Late on the night of March 29, 1867, Secretary of State William Seward met a Russian statesman to conclude an agreement they had been discussing—that the U.S. Why did Russia sell Alaska to the USA? - Quora. Perhaps in hopes of starting a bidding war, both the British and the Americans were approached. However, the British expressed little interest in buying Alaska. Our Documents - Check for the Purchase of Alaska (1868). The US $7.2 million check used to pay for Alaska ($121 million in 2015 dollars). The Alaska Purchase is also known as Seward’s Folly or the Seward’s Stronghold to US.